HOW THEY WORKED! AND FINAL-
LY ONE DAY IT WAS ALL OVER BUT THE SHOUTING . .

AND THEY SHOUTED FOR THE 1941 MIRAGE!

OF LANCASTER HIGH SCHOOL—LANCASTER—OHIO

FOREWORD

May you graduates and undergraduates of Lancaster High School, as you turn these pages in the years to come, recall, along with your fond memories of wiener roasts, dances, examinations, and eighth periods, the trials and tribulations of a staff who labored willingly that you might inherit this beloved reminder of schoolday happiness.

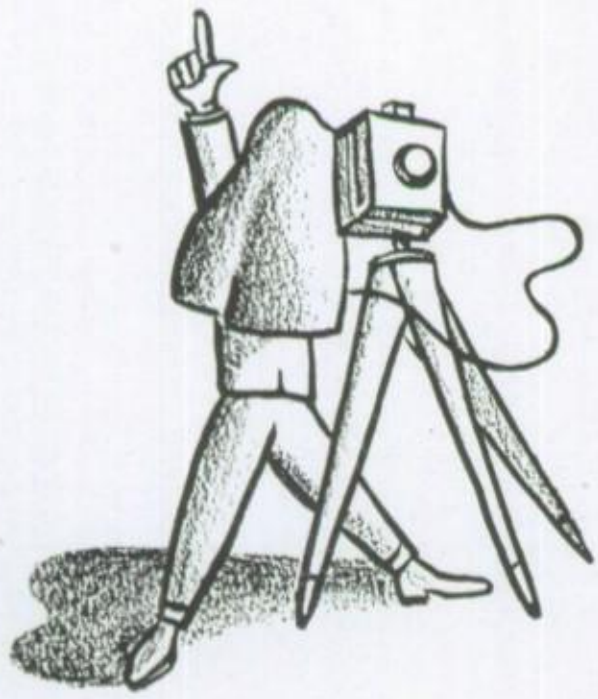
DEDICATION

To Mr. George A. Neff

Our friend and adviser, in appreciation of his patience, hard work, and sound judgment in publishing many successful yearbooks, and realizing how valuable are his services as teacher and assistant principal at Lancaster High School, we, the staff, affectionately dedicate this 1941 Mirage.

WE HAD GRAND VIEWS—ACTIONS—

BUT IT WASN'T ALL A SNAP!



THE PHOTOGRAPHERS PUT HOURS ON THESE PICTURES AND THE REST OF US PUT THE SAME ON THIS COPY. NOR DID OUR MASTERPIECE SELL ITSELF - WE SOLD IT!

ICTORIAL PHOTOS—SO WE USED THE BEST!

OLD GLORY

"Over the schoolhouse floating high," and here we see how it gets up there bright and early each morning under the careful direction of Clyde Deffenbaugh (the little guy) and Ted Ashton.

LOAFING OUT FRONT

Is our beloved hobby, for there's always something interesting to occupy our attention, whether it's an examination of someone's car, Adelene Ashton's flashing smile, faithful Mitzi, the "birdie" in our camera, the socks which Irma Bell is knitting, Mary Kennedy's funny story, or an airplane way up in "My Blue Heaven."

AND THE LOVERS

Marian Friend and Alva Arter, seem to find plenty of interest in each other, even if the ardor of their affection is somewhat oscillating.

AND WITH THEIR HELP

THE FACULTY, OF COURSE, WE MANAGED TO SMOOTH OUT SEVERAL ROUGH SPOTS AND PUT ON A FINE FINISH THAT REALLY MAKES ONE SWELL BOOK, SO THREE CHEERS FOR OUR PATIENT TEACHERS!

FACULTY

Besides giving up this year's graduating class, L. H. S. is also losing two valuable friends and helpers of the faculty. Miss McCoy, who has done her share of serving the students here, is ready to retire for a little rest and enjoyment of life. And the energetic Mrs. Stone is leaving her career of teaching for one of housekeeping.

WHERE THE FACULTY REIGNS

There's bound to be plenty of work going on. Here the football boys pause in their strenuous practice to listen to a few words of advice from their coach. And Miss Hattendorf looks as if she never thinks of anything but typing. Mr. Pratt is giving Barbara a big task (at least her expression makes us think so). The busiest place we know is the Cafeteria where Mr. Parent takes care of the money, selling anything from soup to candy bars. And here is a glimpse of our library and the helpful Miss Harris, who can supply any book for any studious student (Norma Jeanne?).

BUT NOT SO OUTSIDE

Where no eye of wisdom and authority is constantly leveled upon us. For there we discover the noise and confusion which is dear to the heart of every schoolgirl and schoolboy.

THE COOPERATION

OF STUDENTS WAS SURELY AN ASSET; FOR THEY DIDN'T HESITATE A MINUTE TO WASH THEIR FACES AND TRIP DOWN TOWN TO LOOK AT THE BIRDIE. AND ARE THEY PROUD TO BE SEEN IN THE 1941 MIRAGE!

STANTON ABRAM
There's no tight spot from which his personality couldn't rescue him.

JANET ALEXANDER
She walks about with her head in the clouds.

DOROTHE ALTEN
Her smile of greeting she doth lend
Alike to stranger, foe, and friend.

ROBERT ALTEN
Order disdaining.
Chaos maintaining.

MARY RUTH ANKROM
A simple, virtuous soul is she,
Who hates all sin exceedingly.

ELEANORA APPEL
Her high school associates have always appreciated her pleasing features.

ALVA ARTER
"If at first you don't succeed,
Try, try again."

ADELENE ASHTON
She is doubly blessed with both practicality and an aptitude for book learning.

BOB AUSTIN
Noted for tardiness.

WILLIAM BARCH
Bill reminds us of the Cheshire cat.

BERNARD BARKER
The deed is worth more accomplished than talked about.

KATHRYN BAUER
Little Katie laughs and laughs
And seldom has a care;
But when small troubles chance to vex,
More laughter helps her bear.

DOROTHY BAY
Mischief furnishes the spark to set off her beauty.

RICHARD BEATTY
Richard, though he is quite small,
Has as many good traits as if he were tall.

JOHN BEAVERS
Lover of sarcasm.

REX BEAVERS
The Golden-Tongued Orator from Lancaster High.

HAROLD BECK
Very matter-of-fact.

NORMA JEAN BEERY
In study hall, class room, gym, or lab,
She's always possessed of the "gift of gab."

IRMA LEE BELL
Sweet and sedate.

MERL BEOUGHER
His good humor makes everyone love to tease him.

MAXINE BERRY
Soft hair, soft eyes, and soft smile, all prove her gentle character.

MARY BEVERLY
Full of unquenchable fire.

HELEN BIGHAM
She has a sympathy for you and yours, me and mine;
She has a power of comforting that seems almost divine.

PAUL BIGHAM
Every class has its pet characters.
Paul is our pet dandy.

MARY ELIZABETH BOICE
Her many thoughts, with no cohesion,
Make a perfect picture of indecision.

ANN BOOCKS
As quiet as a steam caliope.

JOAN BOOKMAN
"Politeness is to do or say
The kindest thing in the kindest way."

NITA BOTTS
As sweet, as gentle, as merry,
As dainty and blythe as a fairie.

MARVENE BRENSTUHL
She's always busy, whether at work or at play.

HAZEL BROOKS
Since our boys don't play basketball anymore,
Why not put Hazel on the floor?

EVERETT BROWN
Gallant.

JOHN FULLER BROWN
Even teacher laughs at the pretense of sweet innocence which accompanies his mischief-making.

CLYDE BURTON
A tap here, a tap there,
A tap, tap everywhere.

EDA MAE BUSSART
She seeks some dream's secluded shade,
Where worries ne'er her thoughts invade.

ELIZABETH MARIE BYRNE
Thinking, speaking, or acting, she always takes her good old time.

THELMA CAPRON
As sweet as sugar, and so shy,
That she can't look you in the eye.

BOB CLELLAND
Why teachers get gray.

MARJORIE COCHRAN
That timid smile does not conceal
A timid heart, but strength and zeal.

MILDRED COLE
Remorsefully we let her go,
But proud of her we'll be, we know.

DOROTHY COLLINS
Tall, dark, and pretty.

EMMA COLLINS
There's so much business on her mind
She seems oblivious of all mankind.

MARJORIE COMBS
It's always safe to place your faith in Marjorie.

that it was four years ago, on September 7, 1937, to be exact, that we, the class of '41,

But figures don't lie, and with a quick glance at any calendar, we can easily see that it was four years ago, on September 7, 1937, to be exact, that we, the class of '41 first found ourselves students within the walls of L. H. S. Yes, "freshies" it's true, but nevertheless students of Lancaster High.

During those first few days we did our best not to disappoint the upper-classmen; in fact we did very well in keeping up the age-old tradition of getting lost and having to consult them as to our where-abouts. They loved to show their knowledge, though, and who were we to disappoint our upper-classmen?

S E N I O R S

It was decided that we had better get acquainted before holding an election; consequently we waited until the second week in November before electing Kenny Kerr, Max Lloyd, Ruth Plinke and Anne Denton, as pioneers in the field of class leadership.

We didn't do much with activities this first year, a wiener roast being our only social affair, but we really "did ourselves proud" with our assembly program on October 1.

The first year being endured, minus any serious catastrophies, we decided to try again, and so it was that in the fall of 1938 we began our career as Sophomores. Per-

MARTHA CONRAD
She's always willing to help a friend;
Her kindness seems to have no end.

PAUL CONRAD
Here's to our maestro, Connie Kaye,
With his orchestra of swing and sway!

ROBERT CONRAD
Just a bashful boy.

ROSALINE CONRAD
Whether at work, or whether at play,
She's quiet and sweet, seldom noisy or gay.

LEILA COOPERIDER
Laugh, dance, and be merry.

PAUL CORBIN
This lively little pest
Is a bother at his best.

NORMA JEANNE CORMANY
Beloved of everyone for her sweet smile and her jolly good company.

JEAN CRAFT
She knows what she wants and goes after it in a hurry.

BILLIE CROOK
There are many who do good work but only he
Has such efficiency and modesty.

JEAN CRUTCHER
Even when she's serious, mischief sticks out all over her.

FLOYD DAUBENMIRE
Everything he knows is a secret.

GEORGE DAVIES
He always does what he wants to do
Just when he wants to do it.

CLYDE DEFFENBAUGH
The mighty atom.

HELEN DeLONG
If it's a cheerful companion you're after,
She'll lift up your spirits with kind words and laughter.

DON DENCER
Many girls would walk a mile
Just to see his flashing smile.

ANNE DENTON
Perfect self-control.

OPAL DOWNS
I have sympathy to share with all.

DICK EASTMAN
For a boy so big and strong
Such shyness seems all wrong.

DICK ECKERT
He has the stuff it takes to be a hero.

MARJORIE EFFINGER
Laughingly through life she walks
And ever talks, and talks, and talks.

BETTY ELLIS
High ideals and nobleness
In themselves are great success.

GEORGE THEODORE ENGLE
This practical fellow can raise a good crop
Or make a fine article in the shop.

CLYDE ERWIN
Argument for the sake of argument.

KATHRYN FARMER
Imagine what you cannot see,
And your day will brighter be.

ISABEL FERGUSON
The smile that's hardest to win is treasured most.

ALBERT FINLEY
If he possesses any mirth, he never brings it to school.

BETTE FRANKLIN
Her every step
Is full of pep.

MARY LEE FRICKER
She is best described by the adjective Talented.

BENNY FRIEDMAN
Benny holds it as his golden rule
To make a friend of everyone in school.

DON FRIEND
He cuts a commanding figure at the head of our band.

MARIAN FRIEND
Something like a tomboy.

LOIS GOODMAN
Her jollity and love of fun
Through dreariest days will cheer you on.

NEIL GRAF
He finds out everything, knows nothing, and tells it all.

JEAN GRIGSBY
No one can be indifferent or blind
To a girl who is so helpful and kind.

LLOYD GRIMM
This resolute and steady soul
Fights ever firmly toward his goal.

MARJORIE GUEST
Every movement imparts delicacy and grace.

CHARLES GUSEMAN
All jollity and pleasure he doth ban
Until he's done his work as best he can.

MAYNARD HAAS
Self confident.

PAUL HALDERMAN
Somebody really must have "brained" him.

RUBY HANNA
If ever you've need of a friend
Here's one who'll stick to the end.

CARL HARRIS
His personality attracts the girls
More than bulging muscles or black curls.

JOHN HARRISON
Life is too short to waste time in studying.

haps the greatest thrill in becoming a sophomore was the realization that we were no longer freshmen!

On September 19 of this year we chose to place our fate in the hands of George Miller, Benny Friedman, Ruth Reed, and Anne Denton.

Two more wiener roasts were added to our list of activities. The second of these, on April 21, at Crumley's farm, should be a memorable occasion for Wanda Pairan. Even though it was a little early in the season, "Pat" took a swim—accidental, of course.

A few of us, with an eye to the future, attended some of the dances. We needed practice, you know, and took advantage of getting a few pointers from the enthusiasts of the art.

With the coming of June 2, came the end of our sophomore year, and an ever-welcome vacation. Those who were looking forward to taking chemistry their junior year, really breathed deeply that summer before plunging into sulphur experiments the next fall.

But plunge we all did that fall, and with a greater enthusiasm than ever before because we were now upper-classmen. Now it was our turn to smile at bewildered freshmen and display our knowledge.

ETHEL HART
"I am not now
That which I have been."

BILL HARVEY
He has a lot of common sense
And learns from each experience.

CHARLES HEFT
Rather small, pretty quiet;
Looks to me like he's on a diet.

JUNIOR HOLLAND
I care only about us three—
My flivver, my gal, and me.

BOB HOUSEHOLDER
Playboy.

RUSSELL HUMMEL
A man of silence except when he talks.

JACK HYDE
Much could be said, but what's the use?

LOISE IMLER
She works with all her might
To do her duty right.

CARROLL INGRAM
A good-natured person is never out of place.

EVELYN MARCELETE JACK
Chatterbox.

CARL JAMES
Wise from the top of his head up.

BOB JOHNSON
Life is less than nothing without love.

ROSS JUSTUS
He who respects others is respected by them.

DORIS KELLER
Shes' loyal to what she considers worth while;
Unfaithfulness never her deeds will defile.

GLADYS KELLER
She will never be insignificant.

ALTHEA KELLEY
For your defense, boys, put up arms;
Her dimples are resistless charms.

CHARLES KELLEY
He's a back-slapping, rip-snorting, merry companion.

MARY MARGARET KENNEDY
Proud as a peacock.

WANDA KINSER
If pleasures were not very many,
Life would not be worth a penny.

DOLORES KUHN
She often wears an expression as gloomy as her name implies.

MARCIA KUHNS
The art of talking long and loud
Makes her center of the crowd.

PAUL LANGLEY
Tongue-tied.

EDNA LATCHAM
At snooping she is quite a stepper,
This gossip-getter for the Purple Pepper.

JAMES LEOHNER
I am sure that care is an enemy to life.

JUNE LEWIS
She minds her manners diligently.

FLORENCE LITTRELL
Gigglebox.

MAX LLOYD
Everybody's pet.

BETTY LOUGHERY
There's such a charming way about her
That once you've met, 'tis dull without her.

ANA MAE LOWES
"An airy tongue that syllables men's names."

DOROTHY LUTZ
She never puts on a mood that's strange;
She's her same old self, with never a change.

BETTY LYONS
Always radiating gladness.

ESTELLA LYTLE
Her smile, so gentle and tender,
Makes her whole face glow with splendor.

EILEEN MAY MARSHALL
Her presence gives one a pleasant sensation of ease and friendliness.

MARY ELIZABETH MARTIN
She's learned an important lesson in life,
How to take her part in its constant strife.

DOROTHY McCAIN
She does so much work in all parts of the school that we wonder how they'll get along without her.

MARJORIE McCLANAHAN
When she passes, with admiration we look,
For her clothes seem to come from the fashion book.

MALCOLM McCLENAGHAN
A man whose worth is confirmed at sight.

FRANCES KATHERINE McGRAW
A person who is always where she belongs, never causes trouble.

FRANCES KATHLEEN McGRAW
She possesses the classical beauties—grace and dignity.

JUNIOR McMILLEN
A comedian is generally a public character.

ANNALEE MEES
This smiling lass is doubly fair
With lovely face and golden hair.

ANNETTA MILLER
Her voice is pitched on high C.

S E N I O R S

This time Max Wright, Benny Friedman, Paul Smith, and June Smith, led us over the rough spots and they did an excellent job of it, too, for we all came up smiling.

A hayride and wiener roast on November 6 marked the beginning of our extra events for the year, and from all indications Ethel Hart "simply loves" hayrides.

This riot was followed by the junior class dance on March 29, and the junior play "What A Life," on May 10. It was rumored that Ezra Stone realized he had a rival, after Carl Waltons' portrayal of Henry Aldrich, and Ruth Plinke could have filled almost any secretarial vacancy, after her able representation of Miss Shea. This play had a record-breaking attendance and orchids should go to Mr. Johnson, our very capable and understanding director.

We had a chance to don our best regalia for the Junior Prom, and for the Junior-Senior Banquet, at which we were hosts.

These last two events marked the climax for us as juniors, and when vacation began again, we realized that it was our last.

The scene changes. It's September 3, 1940—the opening day of school. We're the seniors! We could no longer look up to a class because we were on top.

GEORGE MILLER
I have wasted much time and lamp oil.

WILLIAM MILLER
Bill is crazy as a loon.
And to seriousness seems immune.

ISABELL MOODY
A spirit moves, unheard, unseen,
And scatters calm like a summer e'en.

NONA MORGAN
Our number one female athlete.

PATRICIA MOWERY
We love her endless vitality
And charming personality.

JOSEPHINE MUCK
This pretty little majorette
Is leader of the famed quartet.

FANNIE MARIE MUSSER
Beauty is as beauty does.

THELMA MYERS
Don't hide your happiness, laugh and shout;
Don't keep all your sunshine, spread it about.

RALPH NAUMAN
Wherever he goes, he loves to argue.

CARL NOBLE
In class he utters not a word,
But, once outside, he's often heard.

WAYNE NOTESTONE
No more does Wayne wend his weary way alone.

RUTH NUTTER
Semper fidelis

JOSEPHINE LOUISE OURS
We know by the sparkle of her eye
That she's not afraid the world to defy.

WANDA PAIRAN
The perfect companion to amuse, to sympathize, and to be confided in.

MARK PAXTON
"Where ignorance is bliss, it is folly to be wise."

ELSIE PLANK
The world's so gay and rioty,
She scorns its bright society.

RUTH PLINKE
The world's so gay and rioty,
She loves its bright society.

DODIE POLEN
Gracious.

MARGARET POLING
Her warm smile to us extends
Encouragement to reach our ends.

BOB RADEBAUGH
Every girl's ideal hero.

RUTH REED
Versatility.

Ruth Reed

WILMA REEVES
She has a very light head; in fact, she's a blonde.

ALICE REID
Always wrapped in her private thoughts.

PAUL RISER
His black eyes seem to be
Full of devilry.

DICK RODGERS
Our dancing feet start twinkling
When he starts his box a-tinkling.

HAZEL SAUNDERS
Always joking.

WILLIAM SCHROMME
They say that jollity and a great love of food often go together.

BETTY SEIFERT
The best thing in life is work.

DONALD SHAEFFER
Please go away and let me sleep.

GEORGIA SHAEFFER
Her face is full of innocence.

RUSSELL SHEETS
If silence were golden, I'd be a millionaire.

BETTY SHERRICK
She's not as meek as she looks.

BILL SHIVELY
Clothes make the man they often say,
But what would he be in bathing array?

ULA MAE SKAGGS
Maiden meek and mild.

BETTY JANE SMITH
"Whatever you do, do with your might;
Things done by halves are never done right."

JOHN SMITH
No case for me—women. I wouldn't give a penny for the whole lot.

JUNE ROSE SMITH
This "all-round gal" can have our vote,
For certainly on her we dote.

PAUL SMITH
Girl-shy.

BOB SNIDER
His face is red.

BOB SNOKE
He trudged along, unknowing what he sought.

MARY BROOKE SOLES
Creator of excitement and hilarity.

BRUCE SPAUN
You'd really be astounded at the things he can do.

S E N I O R S

Bob Radebaugh, George Miller, Anne Denton, and Nita Botts were awarded the coveted positions of officers of the senior class. Bob had a job on his hands, but he took it with a smile and really showed us what his class could do.

Of course, we had a wiener roast, but the gala event of the year, as far as hilarity was concerned, was the "Sadie Hawkins Dance" on October 25. The girls certainly got their men that night.

The senior play production, "That Girl Patsy," directed by Mr. Still, and with Ruth Sweeney in the title role, gave several seniors an opportunity to show that the class of '41 definitely has some dramatic talent sprinkled here and there. We'll never forget how surprised we were when Rex Beavers appeared with his hair all mussed up, and how George Miller drew "oh's and "ah's" from the female members of the audience when he entered the stage wearing a tuxedo.

With the coming of spring, such signs as the ordering of name-cards, the preparation of the final senior list, the orchestra's rehearsing processionals and recessionals, and Mr. Porter's interviews with seniors, all reminded us that we were on the home-stretch.

RAY STAGGS
He's never laughing out of place,
For he always wears a sober face.

CHARLES STEEL
He keeps his tongue under control.

PAUL STEPHENSON
I know I'm right; I cannot be wrong.

ELIZABETH STOUT
Where there's energy, there's a job well done.

WARREN STRACKE
He who works most has least time for mischief.

BETTY STREITENBERGER
School may be a place of learning but it affords good times for me.

RUTH ELAINE SWEENEY
Her blonde beauty really enhances
The light that in her blue eyes dances.

SHIRLEY SWINEHART
So gently and understandingly
She offers kindest sympathy.

MABEL TAYLOR
She never bores anyone by talking too much.

TOM TAYLOR
A sight that leaves us dazed and dumb
Is Tommy Taylor chewing gum.

DALE THOMAS
Ready to work with a will,
And never lacking in skill.

FREDA THOMAS
Her ready smile, with never a tear,
Lends sunshine to the atmosphere.

MARJORIE TIPPLE
She's busy as a bee, always buzzing around;
And usually trailing her Dick may be found.

DICK TOWNSEND
His tennis playing astounds us all,
He never seems to miss the ball.

CHARLES TRIPP
His neighbors realize what it means to be "pestered to death."

OPAL TUCKER
She lets no person or thing interfere with her climb toward success.

BETTY TURNER
If there's anything you need to know,
To this scholar's brain is the place to go.

DOROTHY VAN FOSSEN
Mirth, with thee I mean to live.

JEAN VAN RIETTE
Always thinking of others before herself.

MARGARET WAITS
In her appointed task she is devout,
And love of pleasure never roots her out.

LAWRENCE WALDECK
A true believer in the conservation of energy.

L. H. S.

CARL WALTON

Our scientific genius.

EUGENE WEAVER

He seems contented to remain
Quietly in his domain.

CASSELL WENTZ

A sober youth of solemn phiz
Who learns his lessons and minds his bizz.

BERNADINE WHARTON

As lively as the day is long,
And always ready for laughter and song.

MARGIE WETHERELL

She shrinks from a hard look, but never from a hard task.

RUTH BARBARA WILEY

Reserved.

BETTY WHITE

I might be better if I would
But it's mighty lonesome being good.

VIRGINIA WILLIAMS

"A perfect woman, nobly planned,
To warn, to comfort, and command.

LOIS WINLAND

Winsome and charming.

MAX WRIGHT

He's always there to hold that line;
When Gus is playing, all is fine.

ALBERTA YANTES

Just to look into her sparkling eyes is a pleasure.

RICHARD YENRICK

An ardent student.

MILLA YOUNG

She's made much poetry in her time
And deserves from us at least one rhyme.

VIOLA YOUNG

High ambition,
Hard work, plus
Perseverance
Makes success.

S E N I O R S

The Senior Ball on May 29, found us dancing for the last time as students of Lancaster High School. The ball, the Junior-Senior Banquet, Class night, and Baccalaureate, all composed the last few steps leading to the greatly anticipated climax.

Commencement Day, June 5, marked the end of our stay at Lancaster High School, and so with this, we, the class of '41, step aside, that others may share in the many benefits found there.

CLASS MOTTO

"Not Finished, just begun."

CLASS POEM

It can't really be over;
Why, we've only begun.
Father Time, understand that
There is work yet undone.

We don't want to turn over
What we've thought of as ours—
Not these lockers and desks where
We have spent our school hours.

We are part of this building,
We are bound to it tight,
And it's so unexpected
Just to leave overnight.

True, we've seen others going,
But now tables are turned.
We have only our mem'ries
And that which we've learned.

Though the girls shed their tears and
Though the boys heave their sighs,
Mr. Time keeps on coming—
It is time for goodbys.

Forty-one, are you ready?
Well, then call out this cheer:
"Oh, so-long, L. H. S.,
It's been great being here."

Who Wouldn't

Richard Erick: "What would you do if you were in my shoes?"

Paul Smith: "I'd polish them."

—:—:—

Virginia Williams: "Can you say "fish" without putting your lips together?"

Alberta Yantes: "No, can you?"

Virginia: "Sure, Her-ring."

—:—:—

John Radebaugh's mother: "John, I have been told that you played football instead of going to Sunday School today."

John: "That isn't true, Mother, and I've got a string of fish to prove it."

—:—:—

Cassell Wentz: "What do buffaloes on the nickels stand for?"

Flossie Smith: "I don't know, do you?"

Cassell: "It's because there's no room to sit down."

Evon Thomas: "Do you know all the states in the United States?"

Katy Yenrick: "Well, almost all."

Evon: "Which ones don't you know? Maybe I can help you remember them."

—:—:—

Dick Yenrick's father: "Richard, what is this sixty on your report card?"

Dick: "I think that must be the temperature!"

—:—:—

Ann Boocks called on Betty Giesy at the hotel, knocked and asked her to open the door.

"Can't; doors locked!" Betty announced.

"Well, unlock it!" Ruth requested.

"Can't; lost the key!"

"Great Scott, girl! What'll you do if there's a fire?"

"I won't go."

C O A C H E S

The whole of Lancaster High School's sports program this year has been carried out under the supervision of these four men. Mr. Wilson, with the help of Mr. Sarkkinen, coached the football team, while Mr. Miller and Mr. Harwood handled the reserve squad. Mr. Sarkkinen and Mr. Harwood have managed both basketball and track, and the baseball team was run by Mr. Wilson. We mustn't give all the credit for our success to the boys whom we see fighting so gloriously in the battle, for the coaches have just as much work to do every night at practice, and a great deal more worrying. When you're thinking about our heroes, don't forget about the coaches.

FOOTBALL TEAM

First row, left to right: Echols, Dave, Junior, Quarterback — Dave ran and punted to good advantage. He will be well used next year.

Allison, Charles, Junior, Guard — A hard hitting player, who was in on every play, "Chuck" has proven that size is no hindrance.

Householder, Bob, Senior, Halfback—Bob made considerable headway as a ball carrier. He also was one of Lancaster's best pass receivers.

West, Jack, Senior, Tackle — Because of injuries Jack was on the sidelines most of this year. He was a valuable player and will be missed greatly next year.

Bradford, Owen, Junior, Quarterback —His long scoring runs netted us many points. We are looking forward to his playing next year.

Miller, Jack, Junior, Fullback—Jack was a good ground gainer who passed to great advantage.

Wright, Max, Senior, End and defensive Tackle—Because of his superb defensive playing, "Gus" was chosen for All Central second team.

Gaskins, John, Senior, Manager.

Coach, P. J. Miller.

Second row: Crook, Bill, Senior, Center—Bill played his position well. He will be a hard man to replace.

Radebaugh, Bob, Senior, Halfback—Shifty, fast, a great ball carrier, Bob was selected for the All Central Team.

Eastman, Dick, Senior, Quarterback —Although he did not see much action this year, Dick could always be depended upon to do his part.

F O O T B A L L

Altman, Bob, Junior, Quarterback—Bob gained much yardage against our opponents. He is sure to be an asset to next year's team.

Arter, Alva, Senior, End—On next year's team, Alva's place will be hard to fill for faithfulness and dependability.

Eckert, Dick, Senior, Tackle—A fast tackle who fitted perfectly in many plays, both offensive and defensive.

Waldeck, Lawrence, Senior, Manager.

Coach, Esco Sarkkinen.

Kline, Bob, Junior, Halfback — Bob was a big advantage to the team as halfback. We are glad that he will be eligible for this position next year.

Kerr, Kenny, Junior, Center—Kenny was an efficient center who stopped many a drive through his section of the line.

Taylor, Tom, Senior, End and defensive Tackle—A great pass receiver and a good defensive player. Tom will be greatly missed next fall.

Shultz, Bob, Junior, offensive Guard and defensive End—Bob was a hard man to get around. We will see a lot of Bob next year.

Radebaugh, John, Junior, Tackle—John was a husky tackle who always carried his man well out of the play. He is noted for always knowing the game.

Ellinger, Herb, Junior, Tackle—Herb was one of the strongest defensive men we had this year. He will probably see much service next year.

Arnold, Murray, Sophomore, Manager.

Coach, Don Harwood.

Coach, E. J. Wilson.

BASKETBALL

First row, left to right: Charles Montague, Carl Raymond, Dave Thimmes, Dick Townsend, Max Wright, Frank McNaughten, Charles Allison, Dick Wetherell, Max Miller, Bob Franklin.

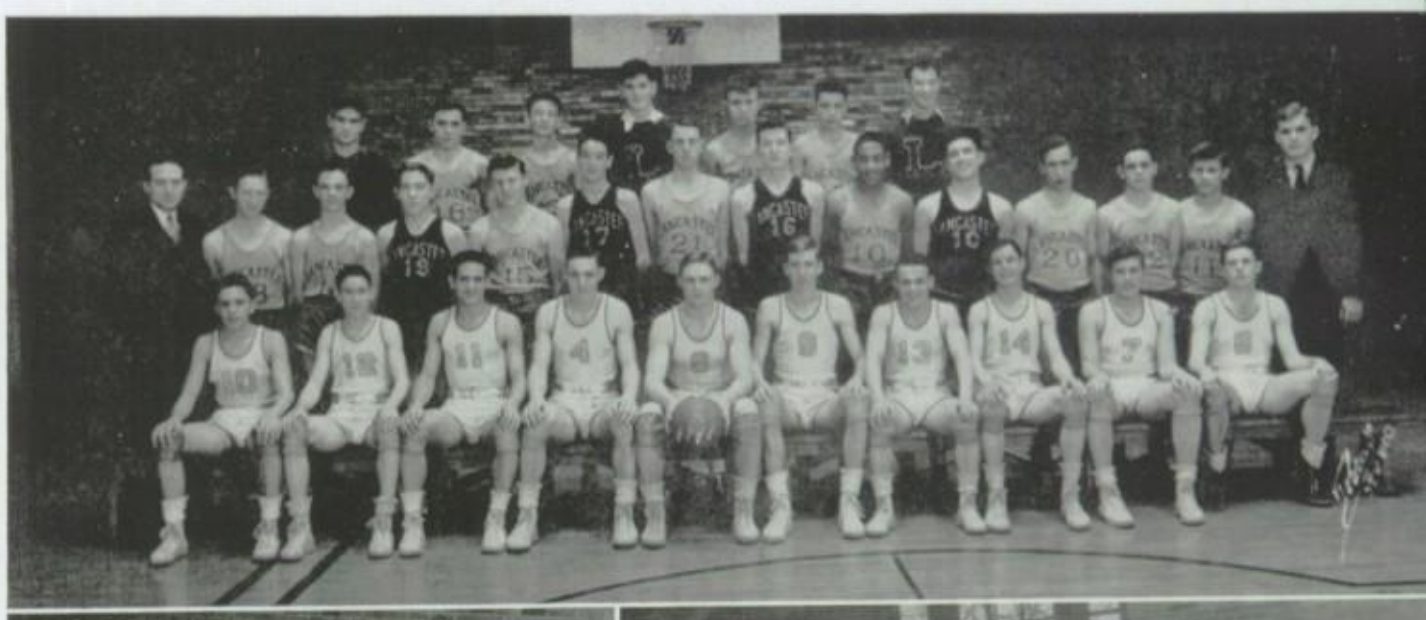
Third row: Manager Carl Kauffman, Arthur Markwood, James Christian, Manager Ray Christian, James Daubenmire, Randall Miller, Manager Alva Arter.



AGE CONQUERS YOUTH

Our Modern Misses didn't show up so well when they invited the Bloomer Girls to engage them in a tussel with the basketball last March 12. Referees E. J. Wilson and P. J. Miller will tell you that the teachers know as much about basketball as they do about Latin and History. And scorekeepers E. R. Jenkins, Ruth Hudson, and Grace Johnson will confirm this opinion with figures that don't lie. For the Letter Club members, star athletes of the girls' gym, couldn't keep up, although they did considerable huffing and puffing in their courageous attempt.

But it was all in fun, and laughter flew around as fast as the ball. And who would wonder, when we consider the fact that Gayette Filiere and Ruth Foor (here the Modern Misses proved toughest) had to be carried out on a stretcher by the first aid girls in their white uniforms, and that a rowdy band of high school boys furnished a touching background for these incidents with a slow version of "The Old Gray Mare, She Ain't What She Used to Be." However, at times when things weren't so solemn as this, the drummers showed themselves equal to some pretty lively rythm, also. And, according to the age old custom of the union of food and merriment, Lurene Brown sold everything on the candy stand to the spectators while her fellow faculty members fought their way to victory. Mary Silbaugh, too, did her bit with a carton of Coca Cola, though she did dispose of most of it among the players.

Perhaps the most surprising observation of the whole hilarious affair is a comparison of the decorous behavior of the students and the appalling misbehavior of the faculty players, who went so far as to litter up the floor with grapefruit rinds. (Can't you just see your sedate teachers seated in the middle of the floor sucking whole grapefruits?)

Those modern Misses who fell before the eyes of about 300 spectators were Eleanora Appel, Marvene Brenstuhl, Mildred Cole, "Skipper" Lewis, Thelma Myers, Wanda Pairan, Ruth Plinke, Ruth Reed, and June Smith. And their victorious opponents, coming from all Lancaster schools, were Edna Belle Berry, Betty Dove, Gayette Filiere, Ruth Foor, Martha Gesling, Anne Hawker, Katherine Kyle, Sue Rainier, Garnet Sullivan, and Mary Kate Van Gundy.

The youngsters of the female sex aren't the only ones who need some instructions in the art of playing basketball either. When the Hi-Y challenged the male faculty, the teachers likewise proved themselves superior to the "young upstarts" and taught them a good lesson, though it was taught in a manner more entertaining than usual. And it was entertaining to see Jenkins stumble over himself and fall flat. But, in spite of this mishap, the older generation never let themselves drift behind. Even the stars of the students, Radebaugh and Miller, couldn't do much good against experienced players. So the game ended with our schoolboys on the losing end. The Hi-Y boys were Eastman, Bill Miller, George Miller, Johnson, Radebaugh, and Snider. On the faculty team were Harwood, Jenkins, Sarkkinen, Stemen, and Cohen.

Second row: Callahan, B. Radebaugh, Wright, Miller, Householder, Shultz, Altman, Kerr, J. Radebaugh, Eckert, Allison, Taylor, Vaughn.

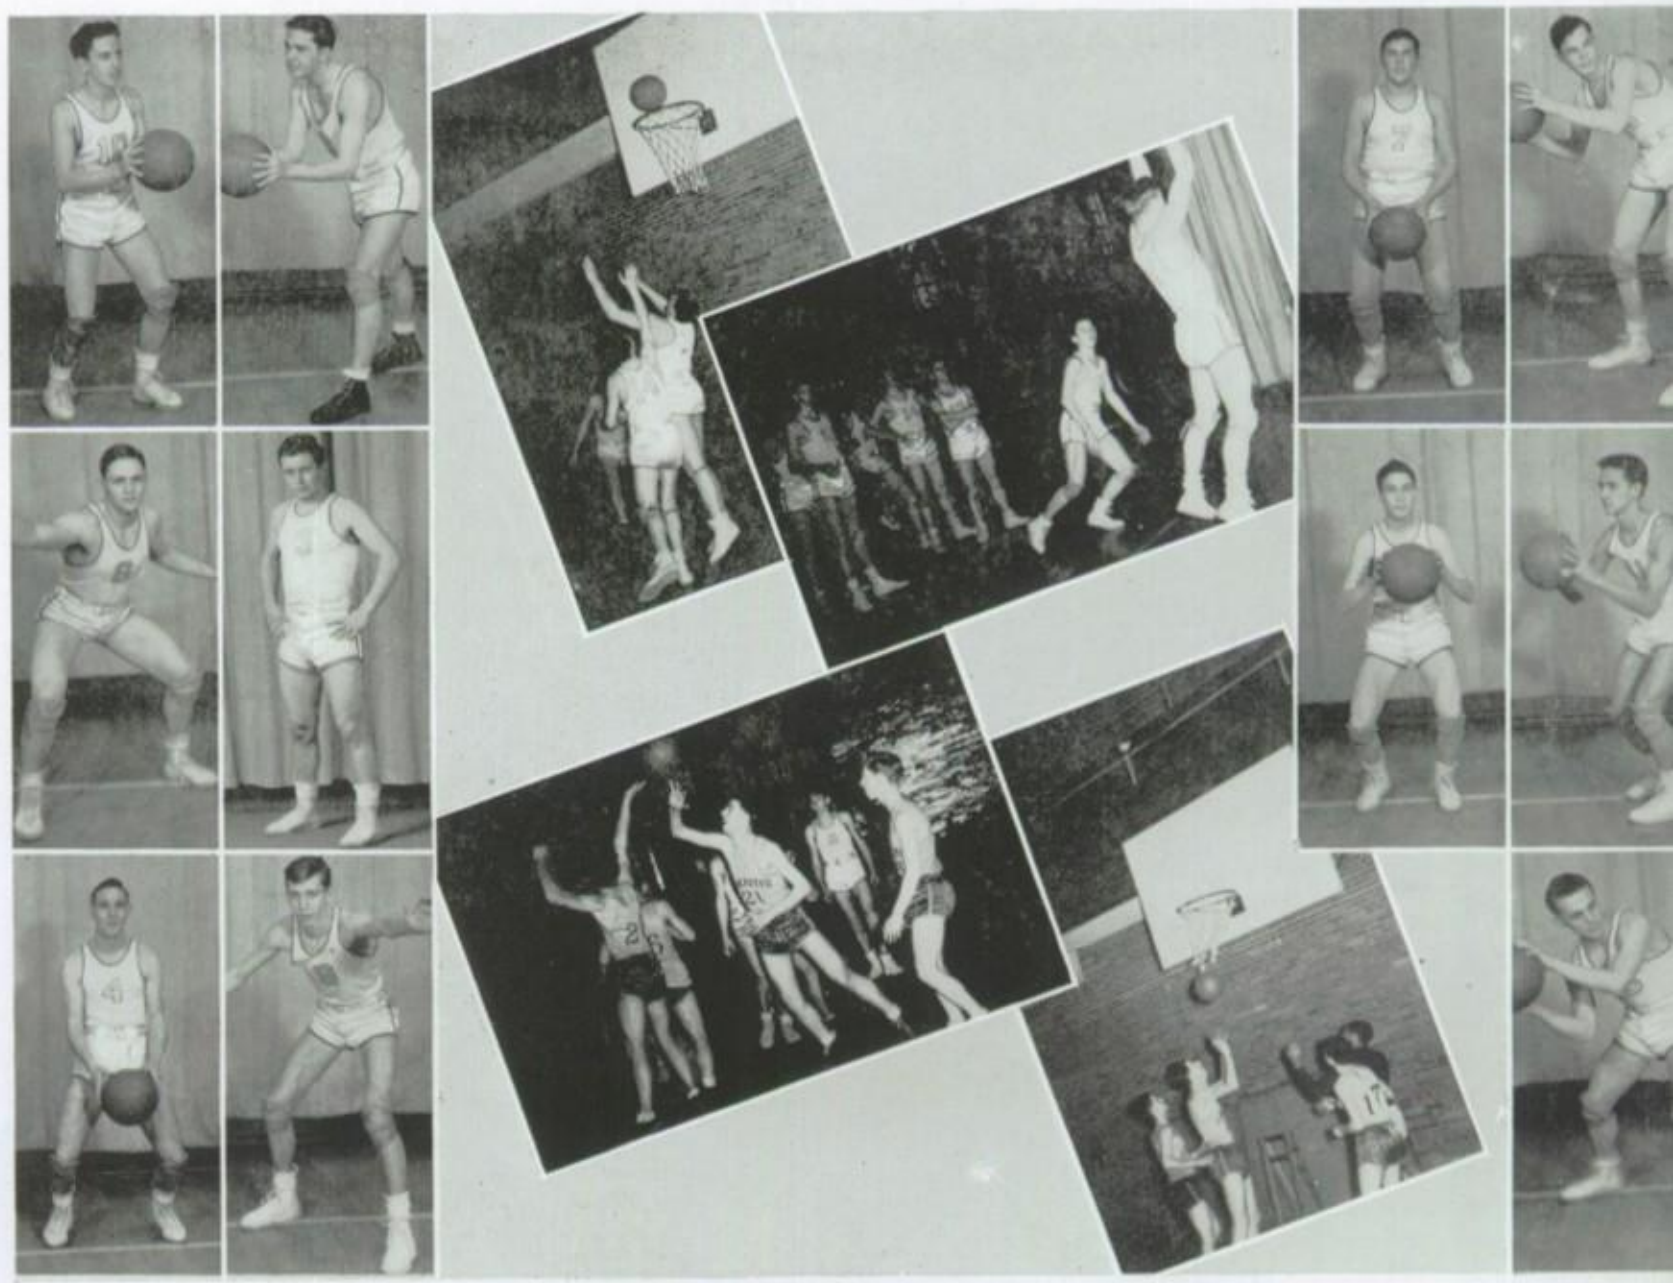
Fourth row: Friedman, Kauff, Pettit, Turner, McClenaghan, Allen, J. Christian, Young, Petrie, Thress, Reed, Minehart.



THE BLEACHERS ROAR

But these cheerleaders use a lot of pep, vim, and vigor to squeeze the noise out of them. And our four pretty majorettes are half the attraction of any game as they march down the field with twirling batons. Here, in their saucy white uniforms are Josephine Muck, Jean Stein, Betty Lou Kneller, and Margaret Lowry. Forming the letter L at the lower right are the cheerleaders, Betty Miller, Dale Wolfinger, Gordon Swaney, Brenda Beavers, Dick Evans, and Josephine Muck.

STAND UP AND CHEER

Stand up and cheer, cheer loud and long for old Lancaster,
For today we raise the Purple and Gold above the rest;
Our boys are fighting, and we are bound to win the fray.
We've got the team, (we've got the team)
We've got the steam, (we've got the steam)
For this is old Lancaster's day! Rah! Rah! Rah!

Go get a cat trap bigger than a rat trap.
Go get a rat trap bigger than a cat trap.
Cannibal! Cannibal! Ziz! Boom! Bah!
Lancaster High School! Rah! Rah! Rah!

We're backing the team,
We're backing the team,
Fight! Fight! Fight!

With an L, with an L, with an L-A-N,
With a C, with a C, with a C-A-S,
With a T, with a T, with a T-E-R,
L-A-N-C-A-S-T-E-R, Lancaster

We want a touchdown,
We want a touchdown,
We want a touchdown now!
We'll get a touchdown,
We'll get a touchdown,
We'll get a touchdown now!

THE QUEEN

BEHOLD

The students of L. H. S. as they look every day of the week, every week of the month, every —but that's enough. What fun they get from hanging around the old doorpost is more than we can see, but they get it. And speaking of hanging, La Vetta Hammond looks about ready to be hanged. Something must have scared her, for it's a rare moment when she isn't smiling.

In spite of the general appearance of laziness, it looks as if someone has a little ambition, and that someone is Dolores Kuhn, who promises to gain the world championship in typing. She certainly goes to town up there in room 214.

CLASS WILL

Be it hereby remembered by those present both in body and mind that we, the unrevealed Senior Class of Lancaster High School, realize that we are about to fade from the scene of events in this sanitarium for the treatment of ignorance, do hereby make and declare this, our last will and testament for the purpose of disposing of our cares, burdens, and responsibilities and of leaving to our successors our most valuable treasures.

To this end we do collectively and solemnly give, bestow, devise, and bequeath the same as follows:

Section I To the faculty, our genuine thanks and appreciation for helping to make our high school days those long to be remembered. Also three months of restful nights and peaceful days.

Section II To the Juniors, the exclusive right to become next years Seniors and the dignity, respect, power, and authority that go with aforesaid title, not forgetting rooms 102, 103, 104, 105, and 106, with Mr. Miller thrown in for good measure.

Section III To the Sophomores, the wonderful feeling that comes with being U. C., meaning upperclassmen.

Section IV To the Freshmen, the "sauciness" of Sophomores.

Section V To the incoming class of '45 we bequeath a cradle and hope that they will be happy in their infancy.

Section VI I, Bob Radebaugh, to Nick Vorys, my "blonde glamour." Also my executive ability to next year's president.

I, Nita Botts, to Mary Ann Spencer, my pleasant smile.

I, Stanton Abram, to Bob Miesse, the toils and troubles of the Publicity Manager.

We, Dodie Polen and Mary Kennedy, to Norma Eads and Doris Hammack, our politeness.

I, Ruth Sweeney, to Mary Ann Work, my ability to "slay 'em with a glance."

I, Elizabeth Stout, to Roselyn Seiber, my quiet manners.

We, Carl Walton and Paul Riser, to Ray Christian and Dave Loughery, our "gift of gab."

I, Irma Bell, to Cora Marie Van Steenberg, my neatness.

I, "Skip" Lewis, to La Vetta Hammond, my dignified poise.

We, Patty Mowry and Marcelete Jack, to the Parker sisters, our ability to "always get our man."

We, Mary Elizabeth Boice and Paul Halderman, to Sue Gesling and John Radebaugh, our brainpower.

I, Dolores Kuhn, to Rita Altman, my ability to break all typing records.

I, Norma Jeanne Cormany, to Jean Morrow, my success as a "blonde beauty."

I, George Miller, to Kenny Kerr, my winning personality.

We, Ruth Reed and Paul Smith, to Mary Carr and Richard Erick, our musical versatility.

I, Rex Beavers, to Bob Wright, my dramatical ability.

I, Alberta Yantes, to Evelyn McDonald, my shorthand ability.

We, June Smith and "Curley" Myers, to Marjorie Hudson and Polly Cunningham, our athletic ability.

I, Anne Denton, to Ellen Kaumeyer, my perfect self-control.

I, Tom Taylor, to Jack Miller, my manly stature.

I, Adelene Ashton, to Jane Brandon, my general knowledge.

I, Cassell Wentz, to Hubert Amstutz, my artistic touch.

I, Edna Latcham, to the next Purple Pepper gossip-getter, my scoops and snoops.

We, Gus Wright and Dick Eckert, to next year's football squad, our love of the game and fighting spirit.

I, Max Lloyd, to Victor Epstein, my clever wit.

We, the Class of '41, to all succeeding classes, the happy days they will spend as students of L. H. S.

We hereby name and appoint Aileen Hattendorf as sole executor of this our last will and testament.

In testimony whereof we have hereunto set our hand and seal this 28th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-one.

(Signed)
Class of 1941

P R O P H E C Y

Lancaster, Ohio
June 1, 1956

Dear Jane,

We arrived in Lancaster on the 11:20 eastbound freight train and since you, too, are a graduate of the class of '41 from Lancaster High School, we thought that you might be interested in hearing what has become of our former classmates.

The first person I met was Marjorie McClanahan, as chic as ever, who is now a buyer for Marjorie Tipple's dress shop. I told her that I hadn't been in town for fifteen years, and she invited me to go with her on an errand to Dr. Ross Justus, who has his office in Lancaster's new sky scraper.

My eyes were wide with amazement at the changes that had taken place. Going past a theater, we noticed Charles Kelly changing the marquee. He had just finished the last letter of the following announcement: Eleanora Appel and Dick Yenrick in Corn With the Wind.

We hardly had time to recover from this shock, when, upon hearing a cheerful whistle, we looked around to see Tom Taylor busily engaged in the art of street cleaning. Bearing down upon him was Everett Brown, a Fuller Brush salesman, who wished to demonstrate the latest salesman's techniques. "O. K.", said Tom as he stepped into the shade to talk with Bob Alten, a policeman, leaving poor Everett to finish cleaning Main Street.

Overhead we heard the drone of an airplane. "It's June Lewis," someone said, "and her skywriting advertising scheme." Trailing across the heavens, the shadowy smoke letters formed "Buy Kathryn Bauer's Homemade Goodies." The unique feature of this advertisement was that Mary Ruth Ankrom and Emma Collins were perched in the loop of the y's and from this vantage point dropped sample cookies. Some excitement arose when Russel Sheets was knocked unconscious by one of the falling cookies. Ruth Sweeney and her colleagues, Shirley Swinehart and Elizabeth Stout, rushed up in her pink and blue ambulance, and ten other men fell unconscious. Among them we recognized Don Dencer, Albert Finley, Neil Graf and Charles Guseman.

Passing through the park we saw Mrs. John Gaskins (Lois Goodman) and Mrs. Bette Franklin Harris discussing with Mrs. George Engle (Marian Friend) the event of Alva's first tooth. Alva is Mrs. Engle's youngest and is under the personal care of Dr. Paul Corbin, eminent child psychologist.

Glancing up we noticed a strange procession coming down the street. Leading the parade was the Stuffs and Stiffs Band. We recognized Floyd Daubenmire, George Davies, Betty Turner, Charles Steel, and Benny Friedman in their band uniforms.

Following the band was a platform on which two woman wrestlers, Lois Winland and Marcelete Jack were trying and nearly succeeding in drowning the efforts of the band with their personality grunts and groans. Next in the parade was a huge limousine manufactured by the Lawrence Waldeck Buggy Parts Shop. Driving the automobile was Dick Townsend in a snappy looking uniform designed by Annetta Miller. Standing in this machine was Leila Cooperider waving aloft a banner with large purple letters proclaiming "Woman's Temperence League." Singing the theme song of this great movement were Helen De Long, Rosaline Conrad, Opal Downs, and Wilma Reeves. Bringing up the rear was Ethel Hart shouting "Give us Victory! Give us Victory!"

At last we came to the building in which the doctor's office was located. The architects for this marvelous construction were John Smith and Donald Shaeffer. A few of the members of the construction crew were Dick Rogers, Charles Ruff, Ralph Nauman and Hazel Saunders. Hazel works part of the time in her embalming parlors, but because business is rather dead, there is not enough work for her two partners, Phyllis Patterson and Betty Jane Smith and her.

The doorman, Ray Staggs, greets us with a smile as we enter the door, only to trip over Bob Snoke. Bob is a private detective employed by Ruth Nutter to shadow Max Wright and he is looking for clues to enable him to find the wandering gentleman. Once Max went to Africa with Paul Stephenson and Charles Tripp. Bob wasn't able to locate him until word was received by Senator Carl Walton that Max was a prisoner in Stinxouania, a country in which Clyde Erwin has set up a dictatorship. The dictator's "yes men" are John Beavers, Bob Austin, and Richard Beatty.

But now our stomach was sending out S. O. S. signals and so we decided to partake of a little nourishment. The coffee shop to our right looked inviting and, as we entered, the hostess, Isabel Ferguson, took us to a table. Flitting around in waitresses' uniforms were Jean Craft, Betty Ellis, Jean Grigsby and Marjorie Guest. As we sat waiting for our lunch to be served we saw that the clever murals were painted by Cassell Wentz and Clyde Burton.

A flutter of papers announced the approach of Adelene Ashton and Patty Mowry. They were telling their troubles to each other. Adelene stated how naughty Bill

P R O P H E C Y

Shively's and Jim Perry's children were in the class room and Patty, who is editor of the advice for the lovelorn column on the Mark Paxton Journal, was wondering how to help Marcia Kuhns get her man.

Sweet sounds of music approached as Mary Lee Fricker strolled over to serenade us with her accordian. This was followed by Kathryn Farmer's swinging out on a hit tune composed by Paul Conrad. Paul and Harold Beck, music publishers, are having a law suit over royalties and their lawyers, Rex Beavers and Stanton Abram, are going broke from bribing the judge, Bob Clelland.

Just then Paul Halderman dashed in, gulped down a cup of coffee, absent-mindedly kissed the waitress goodbye, and hurried back to his stocks and bonds. Poor man—wait until his wife, the former Ruth Ann Boocks, hears about this. Maynard Haas took an action shot of the episode and key hole columnist, Don Friend, had his pencil poised for action.

My! My! Such a racket! Someone hastened to explain that Ruth Reed, Paul Smith, Anne Denton, and Ruth Plinke have formed a music studio and many are the clashes of their temperaments. The only thing that soothes them is the trapeze act of Bruce Spaun and Mary Soles.

Stepping into the hall we ran into Milla Young with a dreamy look in her eyes. She looked at us in her vague manner and murmured something about a little bell ringing. Milla is the poetry editor of Lloyd Grimm and Maxine Berry's magazine "Grimm and Berry It." Irma Lee Bell is fashion editor and Max Lloyd is humor editor.

Just about then we were practically knocked over by the janitor, Billie Crook. He was using Clyde Deffenbaugh's strawless broom. Personally we thought that it resembled a broom handle but Bill Harvey, a distinguished scholar, seemed very much impressed. He dictated his observations to his secretary Ruby Hanna who dictated to her assistant Jean Crutcher who dictated to her assistant Dorothe Alten.

Just as we were entering the elevator we caught a glimpse of efficient Dorothy McCain who is campaign manager for Mary Elizabeth Boice. Mary Lib is running for President against a man named Roosevelt. The choice for vice president is Dale Thomas.

Joan Bookman breezed into the elevator behind us. Joan has the lead in a new broadway show. Following her was her maid, Margie Wetherell.

Dashing to catch the elevator before it started its upward journey was Viola Young, who is the chairman of the committee for the prevention of cruelty to third husbands.

A dapper looking business man whom we recognized as Dick Eastman engaged the elevator boy, John Harrison, in conversation. John in answer to Dick's inquiry of his health replied, "My life is just a series of ups and downs."

Robert Conrad, another passenger on the elevator, announced that he wanted off at the 5th floor. Robert has become very bald and he was going to get a scalp treatment from Janet Alexander at June Smith's beauty salon. We decided to stop and see June who has made quite a success at her chosen career. She has recently perfected a new hair style which was christianed with a bottle of brilliantine by Mayor William Barch. A feature of this hair-do, very aptly called, "Fisherman's Fantasy," is tiny golden fish which swim placidly in the wide waves. June's assistants are Nita Botts, Martha Conrad, Norma Jean Beery, Wanda Kinser, and Alva Arter.

After saying good-bye to Annalee Mees who was waiting to have her hair tinted that new green shade, we walked down the hall to get on the elevator again. En route our attention was arrested by Dolores Kuhn's taking dictation from her employer, Carl James, in one of the offices. Dolores must be suffering from deafness which even Dr. Paul Macklin is unable to cure, because she was sitting on boss James' lap in order to hear better. We hope that his wife, the former Mary Kennedy doesn't hear of it.

A large sign by the surrealistic artist Russell Hummel announced the opening of Bob Householder's new ballet studio. Among his first students are Frances Katherine McGraw, Florence Littrell, Betty Lyons, and Josephine Muck. Bob's able assistant is Junior Holland.

The next suite along the corridor was that of Jack Hyde, famous research chemist. We were shown into the lab. by Martha Jean Martens who pointed out to us Charles Heft and Bill Schromme, Professor Hyde's two helpers. They were dancing with joy, swinging test tubes madly about them. We inquired the cause of their elation and Charles replied, "He's done it. Professor Hyde has invented the world's greatest dissolving substance." We inquired as to where we might find Professor Hyde in order to congratulate him. Bill pointed dramatically to a small grease spot on the floor, "There he is. He tried the experiment on himself first." We retreated only to bump into Ula Mae Skaggs who was bringing in a clean assortment of test tubes.

On the next floor Junior McMillen had a modern gymnasium. We were greeted by

P R O P H E C Y

Francis Kathleen McGraw who gently but firmly pushed us into a massage machine, the one and only invention of Paul Langley, where we bumped (literally speaking) into Eileen Marshall who was getting in trim for her boxing bout with Mary Elizabeth Martin. After some difficulty in getting my left arm from Althea Kelley, another occupant of the infernal machine, we limped over to Malcolm McClenaghan who was busy feeding sugar to a mechanical horse. Carl Noble was lying on his back, his feet high in the air. We inquired why he should be in such a position. "Oh, he's doing the bicycle exercise and now he's coasting," replied Robert Webb, who in lieu of dumbbells was tossing alternatively Betty Streitenberger and Bernadine Wharton to Alberta Yantes.

The swimming pool attracted our attention next and we arrived just in time to see Opal Tucker perform a perfect backward butcher knife. Mabel Taylor, champion under water swimmer, asked Betty White to remind her to come up for air in twenty minutes.

Next to the gymnasium is Ana Mae Lowes' charm school. Mary Beverly and Elizabeth Byrne are taking a post graduate course in snake charming.

Dr. Paul Bigham, a dentist, has his office several floors up and we have heard that extractions, or should we say distractions, are very popular. The distractions are Hazel Brooks, who holds the patient's head, Marvene Brenstuhl, who retains the position of right arm holder, and Thelma Capron, who takes a grip on the left arm. Dr. Bigham's bookkeeper, Mildred Cole, is quite an efficient one if the records of Dorothy Collins, the city librarian, are correct. She has kept the book, Ho Hum, A Chinese Student, by Eda Mae Bussart, for over three months.

It was getting late, and so we decided to go to the roof garden to see the rest of the old gang. This roof garden is rather unusual in so much that it has a pent house in the midst of it. Dick Eckert and his wife, Betty Loughery Eckert, wanted a pent house and because it was the only sky scraper in the city, they had to build it here. At first the children, Dickie, Betty, Gracie, Suzie, Sally, Joe, and Donnie, were kept awake by the noise but now they have become accustomed to it.

We noticed Bob Johnson with a far a way look in his eyes at one of the tables. He was probably thinking of Dot Bay, his former wife, who is now "renovating."

Edna Latcham, Jimmy Leohner, Loise Imler, Carrol Ingram, Doris Keller, Bernard Barker, and Isabel Moody and Erstine Buckaleu were dancing to the mellow strains of the Roof Raisers' Orchestra. A few of the orchestra members whom we recognized were Bob Snider, Bill Miller, Paul Riser, Helen Bigham with George Miller doing the vocals.

Bob Radebaugh, the genial master of ceremonies, announced the program.

The Merry Mix Ups, Dorothy Lutz, Marjorie Effinger, and Estelle Lytle, sang a modern version of the old song "Beat Me Daddy Eight to the Bar."

Gladys Keller gracefully executed a fan dance while her agent, Eugene Weaver, tried to keep Wanda Parian, Josephine Ours, and Georgia Shaeffer of the humane society from interfering.

Nona Morgan, Fannie Musser, Thelma Myers, Elsie Plank, and Alice Reid were waitresses while Dodie Polen assumed the role of a cigarette girl.

Marjorie Combs was the cook who prepared the delicious food that we were served.

Next Wayne Notestone and Margaret Waits, the famous dancing team who have traveled all over the world (they had to in order to escape their creditors) gave their version of how it should be done. They were assisted by a chorus line, the members of whom were Freda Thomas, Dorothy Van Fossen, Jean Van Riette, Ruth Wiley, and Virginia Williams.

Since the guests of the roof top garden are always up in the air after the night's entertainment, Merl Beougher has devised a novelty method of returning them to earth. It is via a parachute and to make the stunt more exciting Margaret Poling in passing out the 'chutes delivers one that will not open. This lucky person may report the next day to Betty Seifert and Betty Sherrick for his prize of one hundred dollars.

We must close now because our freight leaves town in a half hour.

Sincerely yours,

Norma Jeanne Cormany

The Way to Success

"Be up to date," says the Calendar.
"Push," says the Button.
"Take pains," says the Window.
"Never be led," warns the Pencil.
"Make light of everything," says the Fire.
"Be sharp in your dealings," says the Knife.
"When you find a good thing, stick to it," advises the Glue Pot.

Bible Baseball

Eve stole first, Adam stole second, St. Peter umpired the game. Rebecca went to the well with a pitcher, while Ruth in the field won fame. Goliath was struck out by David. A base hit was made on Abel by Cain. The prodigal son made one home run, and brother Noah gave checks for the rain.

Definitions

Saxaphone—an ill wind nobody blows good. (Ask Dick Townsend.)

Detour—The roughest distance between two points.

Etc.—A sign used to make others think you know more than you do.

Girls Take Warning!

There was a girl from Weehawken
From morning 'till night she'd be talkin'
A slip of her tongue one day punctured her lung,
At her tomb-stone now they are gawkin.

Senior Supremacy

A Frosh walked down the railroad track,
When up the way a train did pound;
The silly Frosh stayed on the track,
So piece by piece the Frosh was found.

And down the track a Soph did skip,
A train he too, did meet;
The Soph has made his final trip,
His desk is now a vacant seat.

A Junior then his luck would try,
As down the track he strolled;
The train it came and flew right by,
Alas! The Junior now is cold.

The Senior then his stand did take,
The track to walk or die,
The train plunged deep into a lake,
Just to let the Senior by.

Did You Know

All Teachers are Classy.

School rooms have twice as many eyes as pupils.

Arithmetic is Sum subject.

Good pupils are a thing of the Pass.

School bells make themselves heard when told a lot.

The end of school is only the commencement.

The problem child is found in other places besides the arithmetic class.

The eye's pupils are always under the lash.

A bad spell comes from unfamiliar words.

Home work is something to be done when the gang is waiting for you.

History never grows too old for dates.

Few children admit knowing less than their parents.

The difference between clever pupils and dull—all have brains—some use them.

Agriculturally speaking, most teachers are engaged in cultivating beans.

Copy cats are the only animals allowed in school.

Mr. Miller: "Jo Ellen can you tell me what we get from the sun and not from the moon?"

Jo Ellen Poling: "Yes, sir. Freckles."

Like, Yet Unlike

The gum-chewing girl
And the cud-chewing cow
Are somewhat alike
Yet different somehow.
What is the difference?
Oh, I see it now
It's the thoughtful look
On the face of the cow.

—:—:—

The Dead Past

Jack Strosnider: "Now that you know about my marriage to Mary, there's one thing I want to get off my chest."

Doctor: "All right, my boy, what is it?"

Jack: "This tattooed heart with the name Adelene on it."

—:—:—

Voice of Experience

Dick Townsend: "I have tickets for the new movie."

Marjorie Tipple: "Fine—I'll start getting dressed right away."

Dick: "Great! The opening is tomorrow night."

—:—:—

March of Science

Mr. Crook: "Here's a man who has invented a device for looking through walls."

Mr. Harwood: "Some kind of a new ray?"

Mr. Crook: "No, a window."

INDECO GUIDES TO BETTER ANNUALS

Since the turn of the century the Indianapolis Engraving Company, Inc., has maintained the highest standards of quality and intelligent cooperation, thus accounting for the continuous use of our service by many high schools, colleges and universities.

Indeco quality is the finest that modern equipment and skilled craftsmen can produce. Every engraving is unconditionally guaranteed to be a perfect printing plate and to give a faithful reproduction of your engraving copy.

Our service includes help in planning and designing, suggestions on how to get the best pictorial effects, assistance in preparation of engraving copy, and solving the many problems arising in making your book both an editorial and financial success.

The latest ideas in yearbook construction are offered to make the annual best meet the requirements of your particular school. Our "Service Manual" is a complete guide for the staff in their work.

Indeco planned yearbooks have long been recognized as being among the outstanding annuals of the country. You will be agreeably surprised, too, at the purchasing power of your budget. Write us asking for a complete explanation of the Indeco plan.

"How much is a ticket to the concert?" asked Anne Denton's mother at the ticket office.

"Three dollars," was the answer.

Turning to Anne, Mrs. Denton exclaimed: "Did you hear that? The people are paying three dollars apiece! Now will you practice harder on your violin?"

—:—:—

Jean Crutcher: "Isn't it wonderful how these filling station people know exactly where to set up a pump and get gas?"

—:—:—

Betty Bibler: "I know one thing you can never eat for supper."

Wilma Dindore: "What?"

Betty: "Breakfast."

Mary Soles: "Gee, I wish you would hold your hand in front of your mouth when you yawn."

Helen Reisinger: "What, and get bit?"

Jane Brandon: "What is the difference between a cat and a comma?"

Barbara Gustaveson: "I don't know; what is it?"

Jane Brandon: "A cat has claws at the end of its paws, while a comma is a pause at the end of a clause."

—:—:—

Jean Davis: "All the trains and street cars in the United States stopped yesterday."

Dorothy Capron: "Yes? What for?"

Jean: "To pick up passengers."

—:—:—

Mrs. Stone asked her class to name the 10 greatest men in the world. Kenny Hannan turned in the following:

The New York Yankees 9
The Lone Ranger 1

—:—:—

An old man at the theatre had dropped something and was making quite a commotion trying to find it. Finally the woman beside him asked what he had lost.

"A carmel," said the old man.

"You mean to say that you're making all this fuss for a carmel?" she exclaimed.

"Ay," was the reply, "My teeth's in it."

Marcia Kuhns: "Mother, you know our 24-piece dinner set?"

Mrs. Kuhns: "Yes, dear."

Marcia: "Well, it's a 25-piece set now."

Quentin Walker: "What do you think of the great singer you have just heard?"

Betty Stout: "He sounded just like Padereski."

Quentin: "Well, that's just it."

—:—:—

Ruth Reed: "I didn't send for a piano tuner."

Piano Tuner: "No, but the people next door did."

—:—:—

Allen James: "My father's a doctor. I can be sick for nothing."

Milla Young: "Well, mine's a preacher—so I can be good for nothing."

—:—:—

Viola Young: "I want a ticket for New York."

R. R. Clerk: "Do you wish to go by Buffalo?"

Viola: "Certainly not. I wish to go by train."

Miss Hattendorf: "You told me to file these letters, Mr. Porter."

Mr. Porter: "Yes."

Miss Hattendorf: "Well, I was just thinking that it would be easier to trim them with a pair of scissors."

—:—:—

Mr. Smart: "It looks like Germany is going to have a lot of trouble with the Jewish race."

Mrs. Smart: "It's a shame these foreign countries can't run their track meets honestly."

—:—:—

Don Moore: "I've an invention at last that will mean a fortune!"

Curly Myers: "What is it this time?"

Don: "Why, it's an extra key for a typewriter. When you don't know how to spell a word, you hit that key and it makes a blur that might be an 'e', an 'a' or most anything else."

A new teacher by the name of Dodgen was substituting and many of the students did not know him or his name.

The next day he caught two of the boys smoking in the basement.

"Who are you?" asked one of them.

"I'm Dodgin, the new teacher," he replied.

"So are we. Sit down and have a smoke."

—:—:—

Grandpa: "When I was a young'un my ambition was to have a gig and a gal."

Dad: "Well, when I was a boy, I wanted a fliver and a flapper."

Son: "Hey, Pop, how about me having a plane and a Jane?"

Waitress: "I have stewed kidneys, boiled tongue, fried liver, and pig's feet."

Bruce Spaun: Don't tell me your troubles, sister, give me a chicken pie."

Alva Arter: "See that chap we just passed? Crooked dough made him rich."

Blackie Bigham: "What is he? A gangster, a counterfeiter?"

Alva: "He manufactures pretzels."

—:—:—

Ruby Hanna: "Why does the whistle always blow for a fire?"

Bill Shively: "It doesn't blow for a fire. It blows for water. They already have the fire."

—:—:—

Brenda Beavers: "I heard something this morning that opened my eyes."

Betty Miller: "So did I, an alarm clock."

—:—:—

Jo Muck: "That boy friend of mine is a worm."

Jean Stein: "Yeh, I noticed a chicken just picked him up."

Eddie Friedman: "Dad, what do they call a man who eats only vegetables?"
Mr. Friedman: "A vegetarian, son."
Eddie: "And one who eats people?"
Mr. Friedman: "A humanitarian, now run along and play."

—:—:—

Nita Botts: "What do you call a man that drives a car?"
Marvene Brenstuhl: "It depends on just how close he comes to me."

Rita Altman: "My sister is going abroad to study singing."
Polly Cunningham: "That's very considerate of her."

—:—:—

Priscilla Boice: "How is hash made?"
Miss Yauger: "Made, Priscilla! Hash isn't made. It accumulates."

—:—:—

Mary Carr: "What's a saw horse?"
Ted Ashton: "A past tense of a sea horse."

A young city girl was vacationing in the country and became friendly with a farmer boy. One evening as they were strolling across a pasture they saw a cow and calf rubbing noses in the accepted bovine fashion.

"Ah," said the farmer boy, "that sight makes me want to do the same."

"Well, go ahead," said the girl, "it's your cow."

—:—:—

Don Schaeffer: "At the dance last night my suspenders broke right in the middle of the floor."

Charles Steele: "Weren't you embarrassed to death?"

Don: "Not much. My friend was wearing them."

Magician (to small boy whom he has just called onto the stage) "Now young man, you have never seen me before, have you?"

Small boy: "No Daddy."

It was Ethel Hart's first ride in a taxi. She watched with growing alarm as the driver kept putting out his hand to signal turns and stops. At last she became angry.

"Young man," she said, "you look after the driving. I'll tell you when it starts to rain."

—:—:—

Maynard Haas: "I'd like to buy a hat."

Country Storekeeper: (rather deaf) "Hey?"

Maynard: "No, straw."

—:—:—

Dick Eckert: "Would you accept a pet monkey?"

Betty Loughery: "Oh, I would have to ask father, this is so sudden."

—:—:—

Joan Beiter: "Come on. "I'll show you how to milk a cow."

Marveen Blaney: "Perhaps I'd better start on a calf."

First Stranger (at party) "Very dull, isn't it?"

Second: "Yes, very."

First: "Let's go home."

Second: "I can't. I'm the host."

Paul Oberdorfer really has got geometry down pat. He can easily solve love problems:

Given: I love you
To prove: That you love me
Proof:

1. I love you.
2. Therefore, I am a lover.
3. All the world loves a lover.
4. You are all the world to me.
5. Therefore, you love me.

Doris Hammack: "My feet burn like anything. Would a mustard bath help?"

Bernadine Wharton: "Sure. There's nothing better than mustard for hot dogs."

Chas. Tripp: "O boy! Am I smart."

Bob Altman: "What makes you think so?"

Charles: "I was the only one in a thousand who could answer the question the teacher asked."

Bob: "What was the question?"

Charles: "She asked who broke the window."

Betty Turner: "Did you notice those stuttering sign painters?"

Gladys Keller: "How do you know they stuttered?"

A friend: "You say your son has done very well with his trombone lessons? Is he in a band?"

Bob Snyder's father: "No, but I have been able to pick up some valuable nearby real estate very cheap."

—:—:—

Bill George: "Teaching that calf to drink took me two hours, roughly speaking."

Warren Gardner: "That's what you may call it, Bill, but I'd call it plain cussing."

—:—:—

Ruth Sweeney: "Steward, how often do big ships like this sink?"

Steward: "Well madam, as a rule only once."

—:—:—

Bob Reef: "Dad, you remember you said you would give me a dollar if I passed my Latin?"

His father: "Yes, that was the bargain."

Bob: "Well, is it worth anything to you to be relieved of that expense?"

—:—:—

Mr. Neff: "What two things are helping mankind to get up in this world?"

Max Lloyd: "The alarm clock and the step-ladder."

—:—:—

In one of Mrs. Stone's English classes, she asked a student to give a sentence using too correctly. One student responded, "I do not know too much."

—:—:—

Reduction

The little boy asked his mother, "What are prayers?" When his moth told him prayers were little messages to Heaven, the young hopeful remarked, "Now I understand. We send them at night like Western Union to get the cheaper rates."

The Effect of Environment

Tommy Trusler: 'Say waiter, is this an incubator chicken? It tastes like it."

Waiter: "I don't know, sir."

Tommy: "It must be. Any chicken that has a mother, could never get as tough as this one."

—:—:—

Hot Dogs!

Mary Tripp was driving through the country with her father when, for the first time in her life, she spied some cat tails in a swamp. "Oh, father," she cried, shaking his arm, "Look at the hot-dog garden."

—:—:—

Miss Silbaugh: "How would you punctuate this sentence? 'The wind blew the ten dollar bill around the corner.' "

Bob Householder: 'I would make a dash after the bill."

—:—:—

Recipe

Malcolm: "What is college bred?"

Mr. McClanaghan: "My boy, they make college from the flour of youth and the dough of old age!"

Billy: "Grandma, can you help me with this problem?"

Grandma: "I could, dear, but I don't think it would be right."

Billy: "No, I don't suppose it would,

—:—:—

Mr. Johnson: "What is an arc lamp?"

Bill Nance: "The kind that was used by Noah."
